

SEEDS TO SOIL CREATIVELY GREEN

Come celebrate the end of the harvest season in your local community garden.

Participate in envisioning plans for the future:

Bring a picture, drawing or writing of what it means to be creatively green in Harlem.

Have your portrait taken as part of a crowdsourced Inside Out Art Action project supporting urban environmental sustainability.

View images and interviews of your neighbors showcasing how both small and large gestures can have a positive impact on our neighborhood.

Share your vision of the sustainable future of our neighborhood.

Exchange ideas with your neighbors over some food.

Celebrate the first full year of the New York City Parks designation of the Carrie McCracken TRUCE Community Garden!

date

10/22/11

CARRIE MCCRACKEN
TRUCE COMMUNITY
GARDEN (117/ST. NICKS)

time

4-7P.M.

A look at the past, present and future of growth in our neighborhood.
Participate in creatively envisioning plans for the future.